LEADERSHIP COACHING & PUBLIC SPEAKING

About Nir

Nir believes that leaders create the future. His mission is to help leaders discover their inner strengths, uncover the forces in play when they make decisions, and react to challenges at work. Nir is a strong believer in connection and relationships over just "fixing" what's wrong.

Certified Leadership Coach (PCC)

Granted by the International Coaching Federation

Hardware Engineer

Graduated in 2021 from the Technion in Israel

Proven Leadership experience

- 13 years engineering management at Intel Corporation
- Over 20 years of army and reserve duty in the Israeli Defence Forces as an officer in training and combat

Ixl Coaching

- The goal of 1x1 coaching is to provide the client a space to explore their challenges and what makes them react in a certain way.
- Through a discovery process, we will explore the client's internal process and support them in building their leadership presence and agency.
- The process also includes an offering of leadership practices and models, as needed, to complement the mindset and presence work.
- The price for companies hiring Nir as a coach is a monthly retainer fee of 2500$.
- The recommended duration is at least 5 months.
- The price includes two monthly meetings of 60 minutes and access to Nir through mail and text.
- Private clients, please contact Nir to get a quote

Public Speaking

- "Watching Nir present is akin to watching a Ted Talk. The experience of breaking down a subject that we may think we are fluent in, and seeing the magic and opportunities that can be. He engages the audience with supportive stories that are on point and relatable. Nir offers a very constructive approach to being a leader, not only to the benefit of an aspiring manager but also to individual contributors within a team" -- Ryan Papineau, Software engineer, Alaska Airlines.
- Nir speaks about the leadership lessons he learned through his army service and as an engineering manager. He shares important principles leaders should consider incorporating to improve their presence and ability to lead others in a complex, changing world.
- The price for a 45-90 minutes keynote or workshop is 5500$. Travel expenses are usually a fixed price of 1500$ but depend on the specific request.
- Non-profit organizations, please contact Nir for a quote.
- Other optional topics: The art of listening, Networking vs. relationships, Team building.
